BLACK EYES FOLLOW BASKET-BALL GAME

(Special to The Evening World.)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29. — Black eyes, bloody noses and torn clothing were the result of a general fight Saturday night in the basement of Messiah Reformed Church, Thirteenth and Wolf streets, between rival basketball teams and their adherents. Women and girls as well as men and boys took part in the mix-up, and before peace was restored between the belligerents the police had to be summoned, and the two teams were prevented from continuing the game.

The teams were the Messiah teams and one known as the Ritner team. When the second half opened, a member of the Messiah team fouled a player on the Ritner. The latter made a pass at him, when the latter's father jumped into the arema and a general mix-up followed.

Judge Moore, of St. Louis, has discharged Peter Nolan, referee, and Frank Brown and Jus Schneider, participants in the sparring skibbition at the business men's gymnasium of that city, which was interrupted by a police raid Jan. 19. Judge Moore said: "It makes no difference whether or not these boys were members of this club. The svidence shows conclusively that this is a sona fide club, that it has been such for over fourteen years, and that it has a perfect right to promote athletics. There is soniclusive evidence that none but members was admitted to this exhibition."
